

Judith Barbara (Whitcomb) Fedorchuk

September 3, 1946 - April 25, 2021

Judith B. (Whitcomb) Fedorchuk, 74, of Salisbury, passed away peacefully at the High Pointe House in Haverhill, MA. Born in Winchester, MA to the late Frederick and Thelma Whitcomb, she was raised and educated in Andover, MA graduating from Andover High School with the Class of 1964. Judith retired after 40 years as a social worker for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. She loved her family, friends and her pets. Judith was a fun loving person who shared care and kindness to so many.

Judith is survived by her son John Fedorchuk III and his wife Lori of Derry, NH, and her beloved granddaughter Kasey and her fiancé Tyler Nelson of Londonderry. She is also survived by her sister, Christie Eberhardt and her husband, Glenn of Fremont, NH, and her brother, Frederick Whitcomb and his partner, Lynn Hutchinson, both of Amesbury, MA. She is also survived by many wonderful caring friends who helped her through her journey. In addition to her parents, she was predeceased by her husband, John Fedorchuk Jr, and her longtime partner, Robert Hinchcliffe.

To honor Judith's wishes, all services will be privately held. In lieu of flowers, please consider a donation in Judith's memory to either the Pettengill House, 13 Lafayette Road, Salisbury, MA 01952 or Nevins MSPCA, 400 Broadway, Methuen, MA 01844. “ My sincerest condolences to Judy's family. Judy was there for me 25 years ago when my husband passed away and helped me through a tough time. She was one of the people who welcomed me when I first moved to the Lawrence area. I am so sorry to hear of her passing and I will hold on to my best memories of her. Mary Crockett
